Yes. You do not get to leave 22 what the people like or don't like. You have to see if you have the inventory first, 23 before you complete the sale, I mean, the 23 sale has to get finished. Once the sale gets you have to pick out a vehicle. That is when we actually go and 15 15 with the bank. Of course, they have to go check the credit, we check the credit, and 16 16 17 through very different verifications for us we see if there are any additional 17 18 to be able to complete everything. 18 verifications. Page 58 Andris Guzman requesting it, they are the one requesting financing. It becomes tough when the numbers from the credit does not match the numbers that the customer is giving. If the number is not the same, they will have to update it in the bureaus, and then it's like TransUnion and that can take 24 to 48 hours to update it. Plus, they will be able to -they will not be able to buy the vehicle on the spot. They will have to wait, and if the numbers do match, then the bank still has to call and verify everything with them. There are guidelines, and it's during -even when the bank is closed, they won't be able to buy the vehicle on the spot.

We do not control the process; we are not the ones financing the money. Like I said, there is a lot of variables that comes in when you buy a vehicle. But, assuming everything goes through and you are able to run the credit, you are able to verify everything, get all the documentation that you need so that you can process the loan. Then, you send everything to the bank and wait for their approval. When the approval comes in, then they will let us know if there is any additional information that is required.

Once we have the approval from the bank, the customer is supposed to go to the office to speak with the loan officer or the finance manager. At that point, then the finance manager will let them know the numbers based on the vehicle that they have picked. If by that point the customer doesn't like the numbers, either if it's too expensive or if they change their opinion, they either have the option to chase the car for a lower payment, they can either decide that they don't want the vehicle anymore and they could even actually walk out because it is not guaranteed during the sale. It is not guaranteed that the customer is even going to take the vehicle home with them.

We haven't even discussed insurance, and everything else that comes after the money. Sometimes they don't even have the money, and they have to wait for Friday to get the money. They are not even able to get the car and they have to wait longer for them to be able to get the vehicle.

Those things, we don't control, people have, whether people have the money or not, or even if the car -- the credit, it's not even for them to be able to get an auto loan. They will have to get a co-signer. If they are not able to produce the co-signer the right way, meaning that there are times when the co-signer is not available today and they will come back to the dealership on Friday or next week or next month. We don't control those things. After they decide that they want to get the car, assuming everything went through the bank, the approval, you look at the numbers and you have to do the insurance.

You have to do the insurance, and that is another step as well. They have to appraise the car and see what the value of the vehicle is and so forth.

Then, the DMV part, everything has to be in compliance with the insurance of getting all the proper documentation so that we can do the registration of the vehicle. That is also another step that you need in buying a vehicle.

1 Andris Guzman

After everything gets done, then it's printed and we have to put everything on paper and the people have to sign the contract.

The loan officer will go over all of the information and make sure that the customer understands all the numbers. After they agree, they will sign the document and at the end, they will take possession of the car.

But, to answer your question, sometimes it could take 3 hours, 4 hours, 6 hours or days depending on the situation. We wish the process was quicker, trust me. But, we are in the business of selling cars and we want to make money. We want to make sure that everybody makes money at the end of the day and we do not control and we cannot guess or foresee who is going to come through the door and what their situation
